Hero rides festival tide, GST winds at its back

Rural recovery, tax cuts drive scooter sales and stock higher

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 6 October

With gains of over 28 per cent, Hero MotoCorp has emerged as the best-performing largecap automotive stock over the past three months. The rally has been driven by an improved outlook for the rural segment, higher demand during the ongoing festival season, and rising affordability following cuts in goods and services tax (GST) rates.

The key near-term triggers for the two-wheeler (2W) major include festival season volumes, launches, and market-share gains across categories.

In September, the company's volumes grew 8 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y), supported by a 95 per cent surge in exports and strong traction in the scooter segment, which rose 54 per cent. Motorcycle sales were more subdued, increasing 4.5 per cent Y-o-Y. Year-to-date sales are flat compared to the same period last year, with motorcycle volumes down about 2 per cent. Scooters, meanwhile, have been the primary growth driver, rising 29 per cent during this period.

For the July-September quarter (Q2) of 2025-26 (FY26), Motilal Oswal observes that Hero has staged a smart comeback, posting 11 per cent Y-o-Y volume growth and a robust 24 per cent sequential increase, supported by the festival season. The company's electric vehicle (EV) mix has climbed to 2.3 per cent of total volumes from 1.1 per cent a year earlier, while its export mix has increased to 7.7 per cent from 4.2 per cent Y-o-Y.

With healthy volumes and stable input costs, the brokerage expects operating margins to improve by 70 basis points Y-o-Y to 15.2 per cent.

Net profit in Q2 is projected to grow 20 per cent Y-o-Y, driven by strong volume growth and margin expansion.

Smooth ride

Hero's ability to gain market share will hinge on its performance in the scooter and premium motorcycle segments, both of which are expanding rapidly.

Analysts Yash Agrawal and Prateek Ladha of Nirmal Bang note that the 2W industry is undergoing a structural shift, with scooters gaining ground through launches in both internal combustion engine and EV formats, as urban consumers increasingly prioritise convenience. Premium motorcycles are also growing steadily, buoyed up by festival demand.

The company has gained market share through launches and upgrades across both segments — motorcycles (HF Deluxe, Xtreme 125R) and scooters (Destini 125, Xoom 125).

Another tailwind for HMCL is the reduction in GST rates. Under GST 2.0, the tax on motorcycles below 350cc — which account for 94 per cent of industry volumes — has been cut to 18 per cent from 28-31 per cent, markedly improving affordability in a segment that had been subdued.

Axis Securities, which has an 'overweight' rating on the stock, expects government initiatives to boost rural incomes, rising disposable income, and the marriage season to drive 2W industry growth, benefiting HMCL, especially in the entry-level and 125cc segments.

Key factors to watch, according to the brokerage, include Hero's EV product road map, its strategy in the mid-segment motorcycle space amid intensifying competition, and expansion into new international markets. Axis expects the company's operating profit to grow by 13-14 per cent annually from FY26 through 2027-28.

HIKE IN IPO FINANCING LIMIT

Don't compromise on issue quality amid access to more funding

HIMALI PATEL

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has raised the ceiling for individual initial public offering (IPO) financing from ₹10 lakh to ₹25 lakh. This is intended to increase participation by providing investors with access to higher leverage for new issues.

"The higher limit will enable larger applications without switching to non-banking financial companies (NBFCs) and allow funds to become recurrently available after repayment," says Trivesh D, chief operating officer (COO), Tradejini.

How it works

IPO financing is a short-term loan provided by brokers, banks and NBFCs. Investors pay a margin, and the lender provides the rest.

After loan approval, customers deposit the margin amount. "Higher-risk investors or volatile IPOs attract higher margins," says Shalibhadra Shah, group chief financial officer (CFO), Motilal Oswal Financial Services. "Ultra-HNIs contribute 1-2 per cent margin, smaller HNIs put in 15-20 per cent, and retail investors about 40-50 per cent," says Trivesh.

The amount remains blocked for three to five days. "Repayment includes principal and interest for the days the loan is used," says Shah. Upon allotment, shares are credited to the investor's demat account with lender liens attached. "Lenders enforce immediate liquidation after listing to recover the principal, interest and charges, and transfer the remaining profit to investors," says Trivesh. The interest rate depends on the lender and the borrower's profile. "It ranges from 7.5-18 per cent annually," says Trivesh. Interest applies to the full loan amount, irrespective of allotment.

Higher chances of allocation IPO financing allows investors to apply for larger lots. "It increases the chances of allotment, especially in oversubscribed issues," says Harsh Vira, chief financial planner and founder, FinPro Wealth. Several IPOs are launched simultaneously. "Retail investors with limited liquidity will find it easier to apply for multiple IPOs that are live at the same time," says Yatin Singh, chief executive officer (CEO) – investment banking, Emkay Global Financial Services.

Bigger losses

IPO financing can at times backfire. "If the listing price is below the subscription price plus interest cost, investors could end up with a loss," says Nipun Lodha, head of investment banking, PL Capital. Even when there are listing gains, interest and processing charges eat into the final returns.

If the IPO lists at a discount, the investor bears the loss and the financing cost. "The investor may choose not to sell on listing day. In that case, the allotted shares can be taken as collateral by the bank," says Pranav Haldea, managing director, PRIME Database Group.

Existing demat holdings generally serve as collateral. "Lenders protect their position

Key features

- Short-term loan of 3-5 trading days
- Margin ranges from 1-2% for ultra-HNIs to 40-50% for retail investors
- Interest ranges from 7.5-18%
- Interest applies to full loan amount, regardless of allotment received through margin money or collateral. If required, they can liquidate positions to recover funds," says Singh. Higher liquidity in the equity markets can have other harmful consequences. "Increased liquidity can create temporary asset bubbles and lead to eventual value erosion," says Singh.

Mixed blessing

Experts regard the increased limit as a mixed blessing. "It provides borrowers an opportunity to scale exposure and potentially secure larger allotments in oversubscribed IPOs," says Vira.

However, the increased limit will also increase leverage risk. "Losses get amplified if the listing is poor," says Haldea.

Run these checks

Compare the cost of funding with expected listing gains. Vira advises evaluating IPO fundamentals, subscription demand, and grey market trends, but warns against relying blindly on grey market premium numbers. "Assess the rate of interest, loan tenure, and security in IPO financing," says Lodha.

Singh warns against lowering quality thresholds for IPO investing just because financing is available. Vira suggests maintaining adequate liquidity to meet repayment obligations. Haldea warns against retail investors going for IPO financing. "This strategy is better suited for HNIs and ultra-HNIs capable of handling larger exposures," he says.

Sebi's new @Valid UPI handles: Why it matters to you

If you invest in stocks, mutual funds, or other securities, paying securely has just got easier. The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has launched two new tools — validated UPI handles (@valid) and Sebi Check — to help investors avoid fraud and ensure money only goes to Sebi-registered intermediaries.

What's new for investors?

Every Sebi-registered intermediary (brokers, mutual funds, etc) will now use a UPI ID ending with @valid. These IDs will also carry suffixes like "brk" (broker) or "mf" (mutual funds) so you instantly know whom you're paying.

Trust symbols:

Payments made through @valid handles will show a green triangle with a thumbs-up symbol, confirming authenticity. A QR code with the same symbol ensures you're paying the right entity.

Why it is important

Fraudulent fund collection by unregistered entities is one of the biggest risks investors face today.

With these changes:

- You can easily identify if your broker or mutual fund is genuine.
- You get extra security through unique UPI IDs and trust symbols.
- You can verify every payment detail yourself before sending money.

The mega e-auction held on September 30, 2025, offered 992 properties—391 residential and 601 non-residential—across key cities and districts including Lucknow, Kanpur, Agra, Aligarh, Moradabad, Ghaziabad, and Kasganj.
